AMUSEMENTS

CONWAY TEARLE AND CHARLIN AT BUTLER TODAY

One of the best programs seen here in quite a while will be shown at the Butler today. It consists of Charles Chaplin's latest two-reel comedy, "Pay Day," written and directed by Chaplin, and marks his first release in many months. Conway Tearle, in "Society Snobs," the main feature, is said to be one of the frankest exposures of society as represented by the nouveau riche ever screened. The Foresters have so recently risen from obscurity to riches that Mother Forester wishes to hitch their social reins to a foreign nobleman through the marriage of her daughter, Vivian, with the popular belief that a title is the solution of all smart set supremacy. Her carefully laid plans, in spite of every safeguard, come to naught and her social aspirations tumble to earth amid the amused, unsympathetic jeers of the social world. Then daughter takes the shaping of destiny into her own hands and brings the story to a satisfying close.

Tomorrow, William Russell, in "Money to Burn," and a two-reel Mack Sennett comedy, "Gymnasium Jim."

Monday, Cecil B. De Mille's big picture, "Pharaoh's Daughter."
